CENTENARY

IT IS JUST ONE HUNDRED YEARS since the Christian Brothers became associated permanently with the Catholic Education of boys in Australia. On November 15th 1868 four pioneer Brothers headed by Brother Patrick Ambrose Treacy disembarked from the Donald McKie in Melbourne.

With firm faith and remarkable courage but no material resources whatever - they borrowed ten shillings from a fellow passenger to get to the Bishop's house - they began the task of establishing the Congregation of Christian Brothers in Australia. Following their opening at Victoria Parade in East Melbourne the pioneers travelled distances forbidding in those times to begin schools in Brisbane (1874), Dunedin (1876), Adelaide (1879), Sydney (1887), Rockhampton and Perth (1893).

Today as a result of this courageous beginning there are some 1200 Brothers teaching in more than 120 schools with a total enrolment of 50,000 boys. As we rejoice today in 100 years of fruitful effort, we remember with gratitude and admiration the work of the pioneer Brothers and give thanks to God under whose grace and guidance the work has prospered. The developments of the last hundred years stand as a monument to the sacrifice of past generations of Catholic parents throughout this country. In these days of financial crisis in our schools we can find inspiration, if not consolation, in the magnificent contribution of the pioneers and those who followed them.

Plans are in hand for the commemoration of the Centenary during the weekend of Nov 23rd - 24th.

The programme will consist of

- a reunion for ex-students of all Christian Brothers' Schools in Australia on Nov 23rd.
- a dinner for parents, friends and ex-students on Nov 24th.
- a public Mass to be celebrated on Nov 24th.

ASPECTS OF OUR EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM

With some minor modifications and revisions the revised pattern of secondary education in N.S.W. and the A.C.T. is substantially what was envisaged at its inception seven years ago. The system has now run a full cycle and while it is too early to evaluate it fully some patterns in the background against which it operates are discernible. The policy of a broad general education for all together with preparation for tertiary study has been forced to contend with pressures from within society which do not form part of the system as planned.

Traditionally our educational goals have been in many respects modified by and even identified with achievement in public examinations. Competition for places within faculties at the University and other institutions, for Commonwealth Scholarships and even for matriculation has tended to place undue pressure on students to pass examinations at a level not always appropriate.

It is not my intention to decry public examinations. They do form a useful basis for evaluation of one aspect of education and often provide the necessary incentive for industry in the task of learning. However, undue pre-occupation with the domain of cognition - the only area capable of reliable scrutiny in a public examination - can militate against the best interests of students if affective and creative dimensions are thereby neglected.

The Leaving Certificate system provided an outlet for our pre-occupation with clearing a hurdle. Four subject passes qualified the candidate for a "pass in the Leaving." Today under the policy of no "pass requirement" for the Higher School Certificate undue emphasis is placed on Matriculation which is now the only convenient label.

The division of syllabuses into distinct courses provides the student with the opportunity of personal development appropriate to his ability. The full development of even one talent can lead to a satisfying life and is recognised in the Gospel parable as deserving a reward. By all means let us urge students to develop to their full capacity, but we should be slow to insist on inappropriate goals which lead to frustration and failure to achieve even realistic aims.

I have spoken of this danger on previous occasions but, I believe, until we instil more realism into the aims of students their best interests cannot be served by any system of education. A commendable effort to examine means of breaking the nexus between secondary school achievement and matriculation was undertaken by the A.N.U. this year. Through this project we may yet see the development of a yardstick for measuring suitability for tertiary study without sole reference to achievement at the cognitive level, sometimes through overlearning.

The Leaving Certificate also provided a blanket requirement for employment. With the passing of this system there is now no overall requirement which can be simply stated by employers. The Higher School Certificate is awarded if only one subject is passed at any level and is therefore not specific enough for employment requirements. Matriculation is too demanding for this purpose since it is unrealistic to expect the relatively small number who qualify for University Entrance to cover all avenues of employment. Unless students have decided on their future careers when selecting subjects and levels in Form V they may tend to select Matriculation courses to keep as many avenues as possible open. In so doing many are aiming too high.

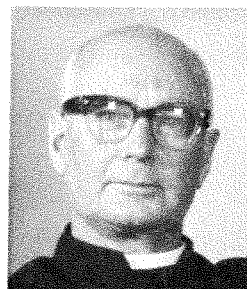

The establishment of Colleges of Advanced Education should provide a much needed alternative to University provided they cater for a wide range of abilities. If these Colleges are to enjoy parity with Universities and if degrees are not to be devalued they will cater for a limited range of abilities at the upper end of the spectrum. The majority in the middle range who form the bulk of the work force in administration and technology will be denied valuable training or will be forced to aim inappropriately.

It is important that as many as possible be prepared to function adequately in a role of service to the community to their own satisfaction and personal development. There is an urgent need for the establishment of Courses catering for the upper middle range of abilities which ought to be recognised by industry and commerce and which will reduce the wastage we now experience in Universities.

THE SCHOOL

As in previous years we have attempted to provide an environment conducive to the religious, cultural, academic, physical and social development of the boys of St. Edmund's. We have been ably represented in cultural, academic and sporting fields and have enjoyed our successes. On the other hand there have been disappointments. The brilliant in any sphere of endeavour will do well given a reasonable climate. The majority work away without spectacular achievement or notoriety. One can only hope that the future will show that the ground has been prepared for competence and responsibility in adult life.

I offer my sincere thanks to all who have assisted in this task in any way - the Archbishop for his visits, his interest and his pastoral care, the staff for their conscientious performance of duty and their patience, parents for their assistance, ready co-operation and sacrifice and the boys for their enthusiasm, hard work and interest in all that concerns the school. We have been blessed in the appointment of Father Power, himself an ex-student of the school, as College Chaplain. He has been responsible for weekly Mass and has been of great assistance in being available to the boys for confession and guidance.

To the College Captain, Timothy Moy, I offer my congratulations and thanks. His devotion to the school of which he has been a member for nine years could not be questioned. Ably assisted by the Vice Captain, Gavin Schmedje and a competent band of prefects he has done much to foster the family spirit of the school community.

To our departing Sixth Formers, who commence examinations next Wednesday I wish every success not only immediately but in the years ahead. I have been impressed by the evidence of sound maturity and good sense they displayed throughout the year.

Our hard working and enthusiastic Parents and Friends Auxiliary has always been available when required and through working bees, tuck days, cake stalls, typing and sewing has assisted in the functioning of the school and provided valuable equipment.

VOCATIONS

A matter of great concern is the lack of numbers from amongst our students proceeding to the Seminary and our Novitiate. In this rapidly expanding community a steady flow of Priests and Brothers will be necessary to maintain the work of the Church. St. Edmund's must be a source of such vocations. Families ought to be proud to foster the signs of vocation amongst their members. Family prayer that a son will be guided to dedicate his life to Christ in the Church ought to be encouraged. Two past pupils of the 1965 Leaving Class - Brian Kimball and Denis Wilson - were selected this year to continue their studies for the Priesthood in Rome. I congratulate them and their parents on this honour and wish them well in their studies.

APOSTOLIC GROUPS

The St. Vincent de Paul Junior Conference and the Y.C.S. groups have met regularly throughout the year. Each in its own way emphasises in a practical form the outgoing nature of the mission of Catholics, and provides a means of coming to grips with problems that exist near to home and in less favoured regions of the world. The St. Vincent de Paul conference has assisted the Senior conference in a number of works.

The Y.C.S. groups have so far been limited to discussions but have plans for a broader range of activities for the coming year.

SPORTING ACTIVITIES

Our boys have taken part in the usual wide range of sporting activities in addition to the regular physical education course within the curriculum. Our representatives took part in Cricket, Swimming, Rowing, Basketball, Tennis, Football, Hockey, Cross Country and Athletics with varying degrees of success but always with enthusiasm.

A rowing committee formed early this year has worked efficiently during our first full rowing season. A wine and cheese tasting evening arranged by the committee was an undoubted social as well as financial success.

BUILDING EXTENSIONS

Through additions completed this year by means of Government Capital aid, we now enjoy facilities previously beyond our means. The additions comprise library suite, geography room, language room, art room and staff rooms. The cost of this extension was $300,000. Further additions soon to be commenced consist of an assembly hall with woodwork room and change rooms. The equipping of the library and specialist rooms suitably will be a continuing project.

FINANCE

Financial assistance granted by the Commonwealth Government in November 1967 and increased this year has enabled us to function without an increase in fees. The grant has not solved all our financial problems but did help to avert the crisis we were facing at the end of 1967. We look forward to increasing Commonwealth involvement as running costs increase year by year.

The library is gradually being accorded its rightful place as the focus of learning within schools. Our students of today will depend more on their ability to take the initiative in seeking new knowledge than on their ability to recall and use facts and skills learned while at school. Thus it is urgent that they develop competence in working with books. Obviously this can be done only by their introduction to a well equipped and well stocked library as soon as possible.

I therefore welcome the Government decision to grant capital aid for the erection and stocking of school libraries.

CONCLUSION

There is no sure way of assessing the degree of success we have achieved in our efforts during the year. In the short term we can appeal to statistics in scholastic achievement, and in competition in cultural and sporting fields. In the long term we must await the developments of the future to prove how deep and lasting have been the results of our efforts. I thank one and all for their support and encouragement.

May God bless you all.

J.B. DARMODY
HEADMASTER.

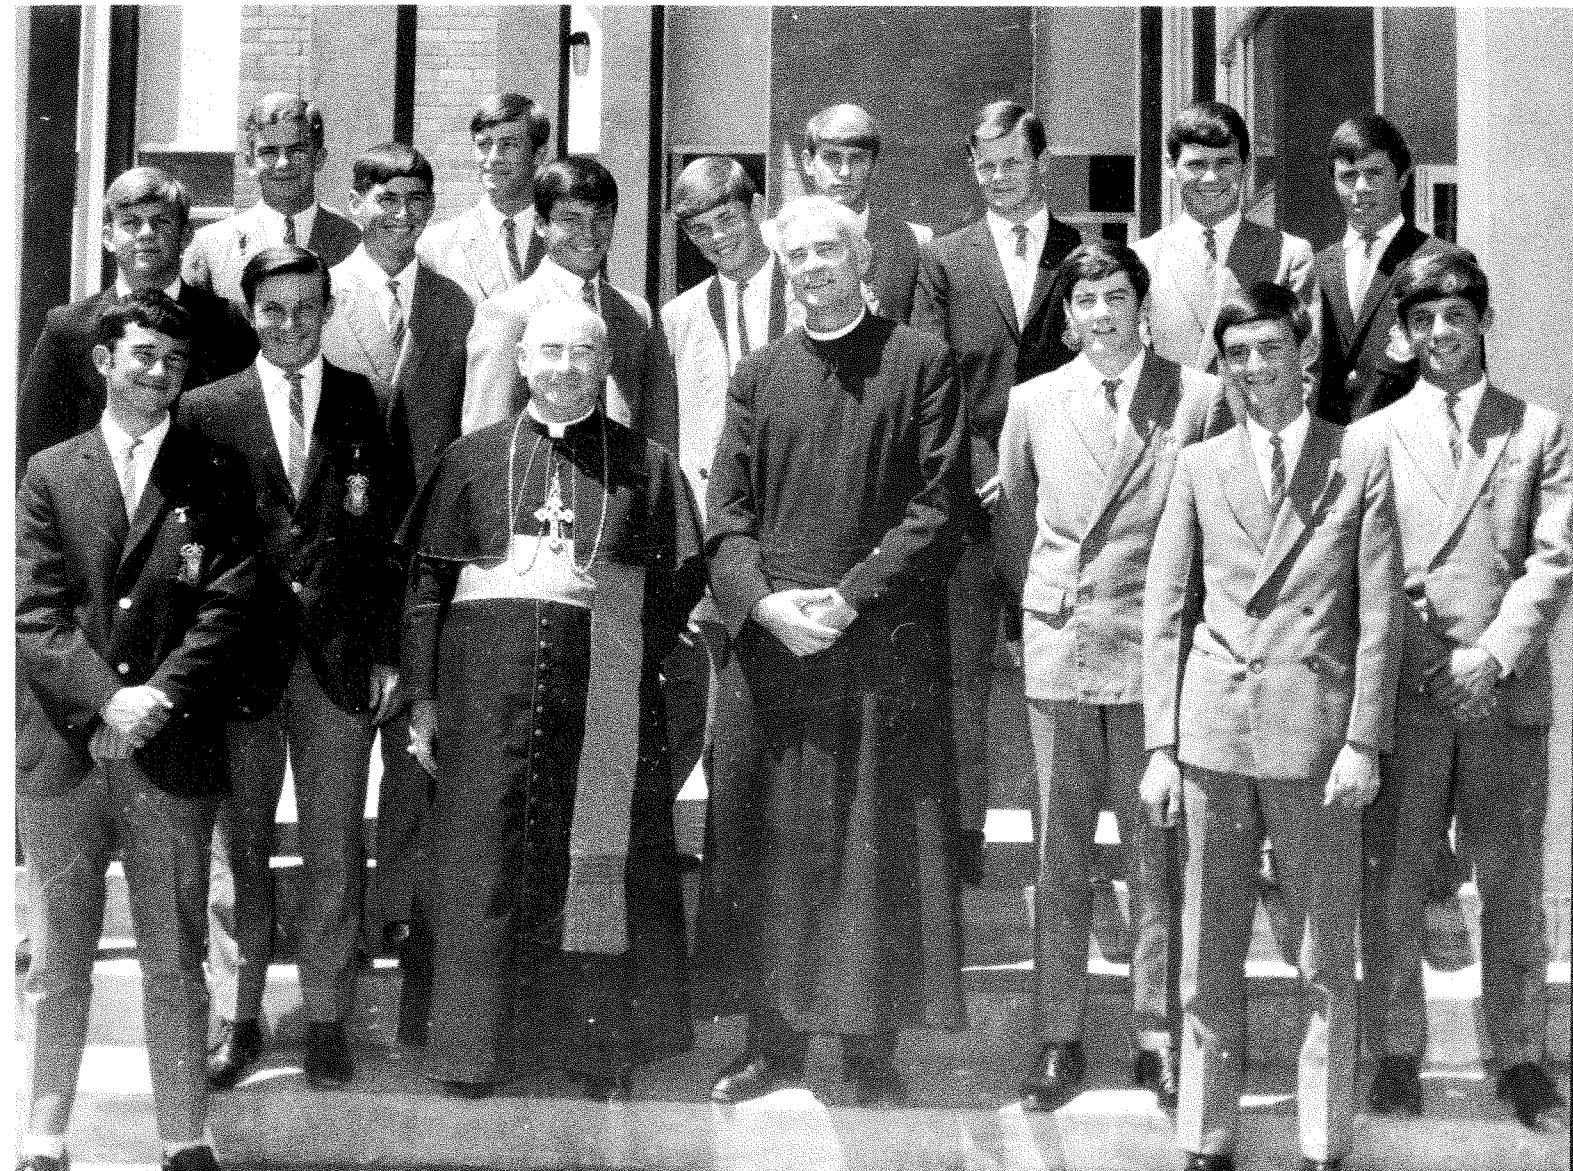

REV. BR. W.V. GREEN

When Brother Green came to Canberra in 1967 to spend the twilight of his busy life in part-time teaching, he found it difficult to inspire his young pupils with the same spirit of study that he had instilled into so many hundreds, if not thousands, of boys in other schools. Canberra boys knew nothing of his record as a close and successful teacher or of his able administration of schools such as Aquinas, Waverley, Lewisham, and St. Patrick's, Goulburn.

Few of Brother Green's students in Canberra could imagine him as the dynamic Headmaster of one of the most celebrated Great Public Schools in this country. But twenty years ago, the great Nudgee College was not only a legend in sport, but it enjoyed a golden era of scholastic success. In the "Green years", Nudgee won first place in the Junior Public Examination (the equivalent of our School Certificate) for three consecutive years, and in the Senior Examination (the equivalent of our Higher School Certificate) it capped a consistent record of high places by taking both first and second places - an unheard-of feat for any school.

But it is characteristic of young people to think more of the present than of the glorious past, and so Brother Green had to summon all his reserves of skill and patience to help his pupils to make steady progress. Those of us who had known him for a long time realised that his success came, not from sheer brilliance, but from steady hard work and unremitting persistence. The Brothers always found him a pleasant and witty companion, easy to get on with and full of genuine sympathy.

The stroke that immobilised him came when he was apparently enjoying good health. It seemed characteristic that he was struck down while in the act of preparing his lessons for the following day. No doubt, thousands of his ex-pupils all over Australia will join us in hoping that he will be able to spend his last days of life free from pain and care, before he is called away to receive his well-deserved reward for a lifetime of "instructing many unto justice".

FROM THE COLLEGE CAPTAIN

IN THE COLLEGE'S relatively short history, there have been years aptly described as years of advancement. The year 1968 ranks as the new high point in the College's progress, not just because it has been the latest year through which we have passed, but because it has been an exceptional year of growth and challenge, as well as of consolidation.

Consolidation has occurred in the College's academic traditions. This year, 59 students have prepared for the Higher School Certificate Exams and as happened last year, the majority are on matriculation courses. Being the second senior class to complete the Wyndham Scheme and its new syllabuses, Sixth Form can look forward to the January results as surely more than matching those of last year: their confidence should be in part derived from the dedication of their teachers who have an extra quota of experience with the new work to enhance the firm grasp of the Wyndham Scheme which they exhibited last year.

Consolidation also occurred in our sporting traditions. The First XI and Firts XV had mixed success in their respective seasons, but nonetheless upheld a great tradition of the College, the tradition of sportsmanship. Once again the junior grades did particularly well, and the hockey teams of 1968 maintained the excellent reputations of the past teams.

School sport also saw growth. St. Edmund's did very well in the newest sport that we have taken up again, after a lapse: rowing. It seems possible that in the future rowing may be the sport through which the College will gain the majority of its sporting honours. Certainly, interest and enthusiasm point that way.

Extensions to the College during the year have meant growth for St. Edmund's. Sixth Formers have been prompted to a certain envy, because they will not get to use fully the new classrooms, library, language laboratory, geography room, sports room - and medical room as well. The new watering system, the installation of which made the grounds a bit hard this year, will ensure that in the future the only thing concrete about the playing fields will be the cricket pitches. Another aspect of change in the College has been the change in uniform: this year, senior students had the option of wearing a suit coat or blazer.

I conclude with some well deserved "thank-you's": to the boys, on behalf of the prefects, for helping in various small ways to make their job a bit easier; to the parents and friends of the college, on behalf of all students, for their interest and support during the year; and on behalf of Sixth Form, to the Brothers and teachers, past and particularly present, for whom I hope we did not create too many dilemmas, and whose dedication, in preparing us for modern life, we now appreciate and are more than grateful for.

FROM THE COLLEGE CHAPLAIN

A RECENT BOOK begins by telling its readers that "the teenager is probably the most talked about, written-about, described, analysed, praised, bemoaned, wooed and worried-over person in America today." The same could be said of Australia. In one way or another, our young people are consistently making their presence felt and this is eagerly reported in the press and on television.

Without going into the causes of this upsurge of youth, it is evident that all this can be the cause of worry and concern for parents, teachers and young people themselves. If we can believe our elders, young people today are faced with a lot more dangers than they were twenty years ago.

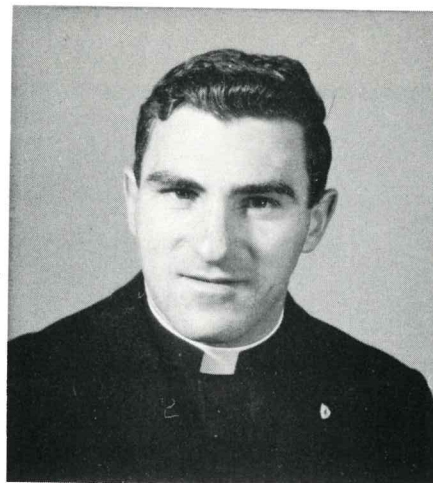

Yet we should not be so pessimistic. If the dangers are greater, the opportunities are greater as well. Once young people realize their potential there is almost no limit to the good they can achieve in society generally and in the Church. Just at the time when we see young people becoming more prominent in the world, the layman in the Church is being emphasised. The great achievement of the 2nd Vatican Council was to point out to lay people their active role in the Church.

Realizing the influence of young people, the bishops at the Vatican Council appealed especially to them to recognize and live up to their role in the Church. What does all this mean for boys at St Edmund's? The College motto, "Christ is my light" means bringing Christ into your own personal life. But it means more than this. Christ told us "I am the light of the world". It is through the Church, that is, through you and me that the light of Christ is spread throughout the world.

There might not be much that you can do about the war in Vietnam or about poverty in India. But what about your school-mates, the members of your family, your friends in the neighbourhood? Do you always see their needs and your responsibilities towards them? If you do not, then you are not bringing Christ to your world, you are failing in your duty to be an apostle.

Father Andrew Greeley, an American priest, sees youth's two great assets as generosity and enthusiasm. These qualities are certainly not lacking in you pupils of St Edmund's College. Please God, you will always use them in the right direction and to the best advantage. May God bless you.

P. POWER.

YOUNG CHRISTIAN STUDENTS

The Young Christian Students Movement is the corresponding school society to the Young Christian Workers Movement which caters for those who have left school. It is naturally hoped that those who see fit to join the Y.C.S. at school would graduate to the senior group upon leaving school. However, this is not a pre-requisite for membership in the school group.

The movement has been in existence for a good many years but its work has taken on a new dimension in the light of the recent Vatican Council. It is particularly relevant in the light of the following excerpt from the Laity Decree (Para. 12):

“Young persons should become the first to carry on the apostolate directly to other young persons, concentrating their apostolic efforts within their own circle, according to the needs of the social environment in which they live.”

Discussion naturally forms a part of the activity of the group, but it is hoped in the near future to extend activities to embrace so far untouched areas of school life. The movement hopes to sponsor various groups devoted to boys who have common interests but so far have no means of expressing these interests in common. Perhaps by the time this article goes to press these groups will have got under way. All who have any interests in such activities are invited to join, but the joining of such groups does not mean that you have to be a member of the Y.C.S. However, as boys progress into the senior classes they are invited to give serious consideration to such membership and so help in the development of a society that will be useful spiritually to themselves and the school.

Office bearers in the Society for 1968 have been: President, Larry McManus; Secretary, Paul Sheehan and Assistant-Secretary, Ian Davies.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL SOCIETY

The Society of St. Vincent de Paul in Canberra is a large organization ; it has over 160 members. In some parishes, however, the members cannot cope with the work. With this problem in mind and with an eye to the future a Junior Conference was established at St. Edmund's in 1967.

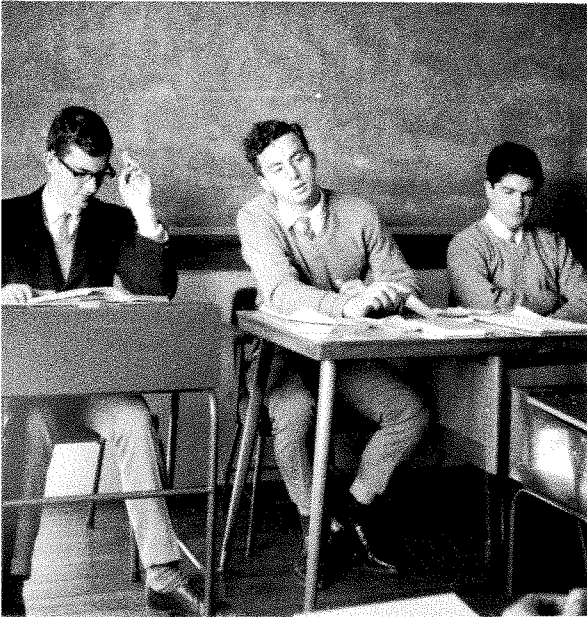

The pioneer executive carried on the organization of the Conference until August of this year. At this time Chris Hawke became President, Robert McInnes, Secretary and John Della Vedova, Treasurer. The new executive has entered into the work of guiding and leading the Conference with commendable enthusiasm.

Conference held their appeal for used clothing in the early weeks of the third term. The response was very pleasing. A large bundle of clothing was delivered to the Narrabundah Shelter. Yes, the families of the students were pleased to have had the opportunity to help the needy of the city and to contribute to the funds of the Society. The help sought at home and abroad is a constant drain on the finance of the Society. For instance, the new "shelter" at Turner will extend the work of the Society: the accommodation will cater for many more than at present, and the assistance will be extended in time and in depth. This courageous venture will cost the Society $50,000 and will increase the demands on the time and energies of the members.

The Junior Conference members have engaged in the routine charitable work of the Society. They have been delighted at the warmth of welcome given them at Festival Meetings. The bi-weekly visits of senior members to their meetings are very much appreciated. The visit of Mons. Weisell, Diocesan Spiritual Director of the Society, and that of Fr. T. Wright, Chaplain to the South Side Particular Council were of considerable help and inspiration to the "fledglings" of this Society.

Members have organized the monthly presentation over the public address system of the General and Mission Intentions of the Apostleship of Prayer. They have also distributed Catholic magazines and Catholic Truth Society publications among their fellow students.

The Junior Conference provides an opportunity for the senior students to practice Christian charity - a practice that should deepen their spirituality and help them to mature socially. "As long as you did it to one of these the least of my brethren you did it to Me", is the inspiration of the members.

One Hundred Years

“AS FOR MONEY,” said the Bishop, “I haven’t a rap.” Br. Treacy had less. He was ten shillings in debt. He had just landed, penniless, from Ireland with Australia’s first three Christian Brothers, and had borrowed ten shillings from a fellow passenger to transport them and their luggage to this interview with Bishop Gould of Melbourne.

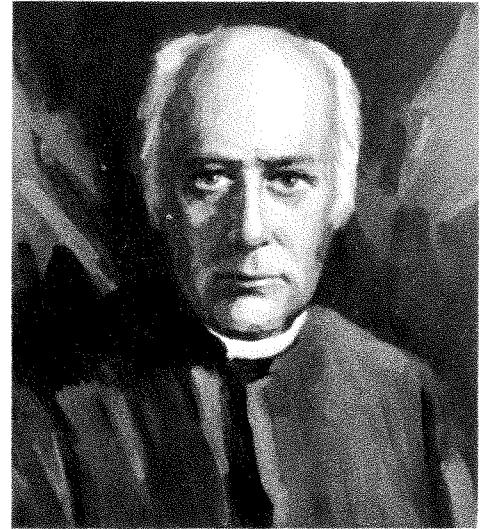

“Throw yourselves on the people,” said the Bishop cheerfully. “They will provide.”

Thus the work began. On a non-existent rap, a ten shilling debt and an Irishman’s faith. It was 1868. The Christian Brothers’ pupils in Australia that year numbered 73. Today there are 50,000. Clearly the hand of God is here, and just as clearly, the labour of men. And of one man in particular - Br. Patrick Ambrose Treacy, the founder of the Christian Brothers in Australia.

If that interview with his lordship had in any way lowered his spirits or shaken his faith, it was not apparent. He went straight to work. And if he found the heat of the Australian summer almost beyond endurance, he never showed it. He just travelled on, in his black suit, with his ink bottle and pen and his blank cheque forms, on horseback or foot, through the miners’ camps, the outback, the city streets, in search of the people who would “provide”. And if he found those endless journeys across the vast spaces of this new land incredibly trying, again he never showed it. In fact the country didn’t seem big enough for him. In the next few years he had started schools in places as far flung as Dunedin, Rockhampton and Perth.

In 1897 he made his appearance on the Southern Tablelands to take over St. Patrick’s College, Goulburn. The late Fr. Hartigan (John O’Brien) was a pupil there at the time and here are his recollections.

“I remember the day in 1897 that Brother Treacy, the Superior of the Christian Brothers, came to take over. He had a firm chin and a solemn expression, but the chin seemed to grow firmer and the face more solemn as bit by bit he discovered what he had. He reminded me of a man who had bought a horse at a sale, but on getting him home found he was blind in both eyes and lame in every leg. I can remember him as he walked around with his hands behind his back and examined what had come to him - the shabby, ink-stained walls, the ceilings clustered with darts made of pens and paper, the desks covered with names that didn’t matter then and have not been heard of since, the windows broken where stones had come through - some of them by accident, some by well directed shots and malice aforethought - the spouts plugged up with discarded hats, and the couple of dozen nondescript human beings inaccurately described in the catalogue as 'students', mooning around, doing time 'with the fruitless years behind them and the hopeless years before them'. Yes I can see that brave old Brother, with his knowledge of methods and ideals, viewing the wreck and shaking his head reflecting, 'These be thy gods, Oh Israel'."

But he salvaged the wreck and moved on. By 1903 he had established 30 schools throughout the continent. They are flourishing still - an enduring tribute to the man who founded them. A man with an extraordinary calling, who laboured with a devotion of which one is ordinarily incapable and whose achievements for Catholic education in Australia will never be fully estimated. Yet a man subject, like the rest of us, to loneliness and homesickness, to weariness, depression and doubt. The force that sustained him was his strong, unwavering faith. And this is his legacy to us who are concerned with Catholic education in the new century opening before us.

National Eisteddfod

THE NATIONAL EISTEDDFOD again this year was well patronised by St. Edmund's boys. They competed in choral, verse-speaking and instrumental items; solos, duets and folk groups, and carried off their usual share of prizes and certificates. Some of our more successful competitors are listed below with the adjudicators' remarks.

Primary School Choir.

Tone was clear and ringing. Good attack. Tone contrasts well done. A sensitive and well-trained choir which allowed for sensitivity and discipline in the singing. 180 marks. Highly Commended.

Folk Singing Group, Under 14.

Imitation work was good. Soloist (Raymond Blewitt) had a good sense of the song. Well presented and sung with evident enjoyment. 90 marks. First.

Piano Solo, Under 15. Andrew McCosker.

Good contrast between legato and staccato. Well phrased with well marked tone contrasts. Finger work was neat and clear. Technique was good and the chosen tempo well maintained. 90 marks. First.

Duet, Under 14. Michael O'Brien, Andrew Downie.

The humorous character of the song was well done. Words were clear. Tempo variations sounded natural and were well done. Well presented. 88 marks. First.

Duet, Under 14. John O'Donnell, Robert Allan.

Captured the humorous feeling of the song quite well. Fair diction and good rhythm. Voices were quite well matched for this song. Well presented. 85 marks. Second.

Vocal Solo, Under 10. Peter Landy.

Bright and pleasant musical presentation. Words were quite clear. The rhythm of the song was given good expression. Good understanding. 88 marks. Second.

Vocal Solo, Under 12. Michael Landy.

Voice of true and expressive quality. The rhythmic flow of the song was fairly well expressed. 86 marks. Second.

Recital, Under 12. David Lilley.

Good strong voice, well produced. Nicely animated work. A good performance from a promising candidate. 79 marks. Highly Commended.

A. Downie and M. O'Brien. First, Under 14 Duet

*First (for third successive year) Folk Song, Under 14
A. Downie, M. O'Brien, A. Corrigan, J. Langron,
R. Conrick, J. O'Donnell, R. Allan, J. McCaffery,
M. Langron, R. Blewitt, J. O'Donovan, M. Tiede.*

Folk Song, Under 12. Francis Meere.

Voice of musical quality. The vowels needed better shape for clearer diction, otherwise the singing was musical. Well in tune and rhythmic. Intonation good. 91 marks. Second.

Folk Song, Under 12. Timothy Gleeson.

Entered into the mood of the piece well by action and vocal colour. Maintained the mood of the song well. The voice is true and diction good. Well done. 89 marks. Highly Commended.

Folk Song, Under 12. Michael Cullen.

Voice of pleasing musical quality. Caught the simple lilt of the folk song well. There was fervour and conviction in the singing. The expression was good. 88 marks.

Folk Song, Under 12. David Turner.

Sung with great conviction. Voice has a pure quality and the diction is clear. Told the story well, but do not force the voice so much to do it. 86 marks.

Recital, Under 14. Neil Dunbar.

Very good feeling in this work. Voice quite clear. Very good emphasis. 81 marks. Second.

Humorous Recital, Under 12. Mark Tiede.

Took the story along at a good pace and made a good effort at characterisation. Voice very flexible throughout. 81½ marks. Second.

Folk Song, Under 12. Anthony Campbell.

Song of this type needs a very steady tone - which you have. Caught the rhythmic pattern of this song. The voice is of musical quality and true intonation. 82 marks.

Vocal Solo, Under 14. Martin Langron.

A Voice of soft and musical quality. Covered the high notes quite well. Memory and presentation good. 80 marks.

Reading at Sight, Under 16. Peter Daroczy.

Good pace in narrative. Dialogue given quite animated treatment. Work mostly fluent and intelligent. Narrative and dialogue well contrasted. 81 marks.

These boys, who have gained so much pleasure from their singing, will always remember with deep appreciation the kindness and the sympathetic help of our pianist, Mrs Schmedje. She has made herself available at all times and her cheerful, friendly approach has made her the perfect accompaniste. We thank her most sincerely.

Andrew McCosker. First, Piano Solo, Under 15

Francis Meere. Second, Folk Song, Under 12

Days to Remember 1968

JANUARY

... 30 "Cannon to the right of them, cannon to the left of them ...? No! Those are jackhammers. We've returned to school on the day excavations began for the new library block.

FEBRUARY

... 1 The mercury climbs to a Canberra record of 107<sup>o</sup>, the jackhammers go on relentlessly and so do we, dreaming all the time of holidays past, Bateman's Bay, The Gold Coast or just plain old Manuka Pool.

... 5 We troop off to the Manuka Pool. This sure beats Arithmetic (or Maths as they are calling it this year). Some boys are back late and miss the bus. "Brother, I have the wrong shirt." "Who has my socks?"

... 8 Father Power celebrates the Mass of the Holy Spirit and we pray together for a successful year.

... 10 History is made - we win our first ever rowing races.

Br Hill's cricket coaching begins to bear fruit as Under 11's have their first win for the year.

... 11 Visiting the country. Cricket, tennis and basketball at St Michael's.

... 12 Someone declares, "Hah! now the laugh's on the other foot."

... 14 Archbishop Cahill presents the prefects' badges.

The workmen bore a hole through the wall of Form One. Some suggestions of an escape!

Brs Brookes and McMahon are spending hours on the oval trying to revive the turf wicket. There's no sign of a break in the drought.

... 15 Heavenly voices. Practice for the Eisteddfod begins. Br Williams serenaded by Grade Five boys boarding the bus singing, "Soup, soup, give us some soup. ..."

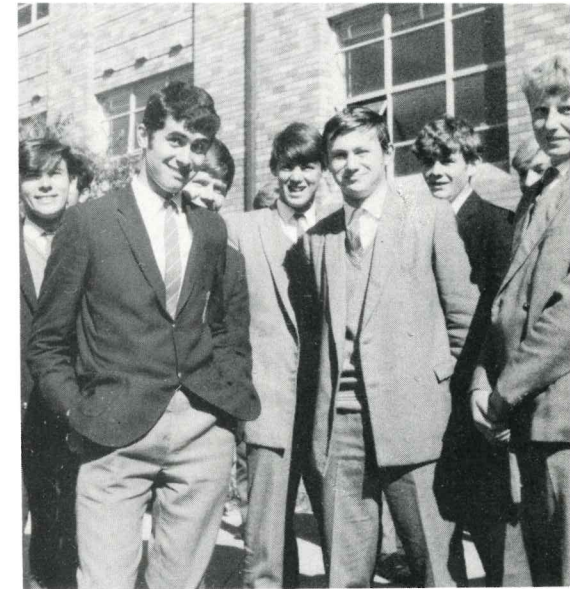

... 16 Swimming Carnival. Despite frenzied shouts of, "Clancy! Clancy! Clancy!" Haydon wins again. Reports of demonstration swims by various teachers during lunch break not confirmed (or denied).

... 17 First Eleven drew with Grammar. Under 11's have another win. That boy Percy seems to be doing a lot.

... 20 As if the pneumatic drill isn't enough! The band begins practising for Yass and St Patrick's Day.

... 22 Mr Mullins and Mr French give up some hours of their time to assemble our new desks.

The fields are dry and dusty, water restrictions are made more severe. Brs Brookes and McMahon are keeping up their hard work and the pitch is responding well.

... 24 Rowers go to Sydney for a Regatta - no wins but much useful experience.

... 25 While the swimmers go to Goulburn the cricketers stay home to do battle with Daramalan. The First Eleven and the Under 14's are defeated but we win the Seconds, Fifteens and Thirteens. At Goulburn Norbert Maciejewski and Robert McInnes break records.

Tony Wurzer and Laurie Forner travel to Wollongong with the A.C.T. Under 12 cricket representative side.

MARCH

... 1 A.S.C. Swimming Carnival and we manage only third.

... 2 At Strathfield Nick Phillipa becomes a Christian Brother. At home we played S.P.C. cricket with the Seconds the only ones being beaten.

... 3 Br Lipman is all smiles. His nephew, Warwick McNamara makes first profession as a Christian Brother.

... 6 A few spots of rain about 3.15 p. m., general excitement but shortlived - only a passing shower.

... 7 Rain at 3.30 p. m. Just enough to wet people making for buses. Someone is not impressed - water restrictions become stricter.

... 8 Form Five off to Kosciusko to inspect evidence for Pleistocene glaciation. "Brother is that a cwm or a corrie?" "Do Geography and see the world", some mathematician grumbles.

... 13 More noise. This time it's the Primary practising the war cry.

... 14 Primaries off to Queanbeyan for a swimming carnival - despite all that practice yesterday and much cheering today we manage only second to Daramalan. Marist College, Pearce, are there for the first time. We bid them welcome to the Canberra scene.

... 15 Lucky the rowers can swim, too. The practice eight becomes a six and a two after failing to ride the wash of the Mimosa. Water police to the rescue.

... 16 It's a great day for the Irish - the band travels to Yass to accompany the annual St. Patrick's march past - those cool drinks and cakes that Sister has ready make it all worth while. We'll be back.

Over to the cork forest for the cross-country. Summer never seemed so hot and the drought could not feel drier. John Bromhead is Open champion, 20 minutes ahead of his nearest rival. The smaller boys don't much mind the heat, but some find it overpowering.

... 18 We celebrate St. Patrick's Day. The Primaries go off swimming. With names like Gallagher, Moloney and O'Flaherty it seems only right that the Primary school have no homework.

... 23 Played Grammar cricket. First Eleven down by seven wickets.

... 24 Rain! 1½ inches before 10 a. m.

- ... 26 The pessimists were wrong: the grass is coming back.
- ... 27 Take a bow Br. Hills. The Marist Brothers are here for cricket and we win 6 A and B and 5 A's. This is the best we've ever done against Queanbeyan.
- ... 29 They've poured the last floor and the stairs of the new building. Some people have begun football training.
- ... 30 Head of the Lake Regatta. Send us victorious! St. Edmund's come from behind to win the Second Eights; even we are surprised and elated. It's our first big win, so when Cox is thrown in Coach goes in too.
S.P.C. here for cricket. First Eleven 8/133 draw with St. Patrick's, all out 135.

APRIL

- ... 1 Workmen begin marking fields preparatory to installing sprinkler systems - if the drought ever breaks and the Cotter ever fills the fields will be assured of plenty of water.
- ... 8 Some members of the staff are feeling stiff and sorry for themselves. They played some of the Dads tennis yesterday and lost.
- ... 10 The roof is put on the library.
- ... 14 Sing Christ Risen! Easter Day.
- ... 24 Annual Anzac Mass - we pray for peace in a war torn world.
- ... 25 Sign of mourning
Sign of pride
Of Australia's sons who died
Flag half masted . . .

We pray for our war dead.

- ... 26 Term exams begin and on the Form One woodwork paper: "Mention one way to protect saw teeth." - One budding carpenter, "Use a mouth guard".
- ... 29 Eisteddfod success - Sixth Grade choir finish in third place, 4 points behind the leaders, Grammar. Congratulations Mr Gray, Mrs Schmedje and boys.
- ... 30 Interstate football. The Southport School are here. The First XV lose 11-0 in a thrilling match.
Under 14 Folk Singers win their section of the Eisteddfod for the third year running. Did you say, "Mary had a little lamb"?

MAY

- ... 8 Dancing to the tunes of the Roadrunners - the seniors' term dance at the Haydon Centre. Kim thought it was gas.
- ... 9 Why all the smiles? Holidays begin today. . . you beaut!
- ... 28 Ah well! all good things. . . Back to school. At least it's winter and that means football - things aren't so bad after all.

JUNE

... 3 The pride of New Zealand train on the oval. The all Blacks preparing to do battle with A.C.T. spend the morning at St Edmund's - if only the Firsts could play like that.

... 12 All are saddened by the news of the death of Frits Klein-Bentink, killed in a car accident at June. R.I.P.

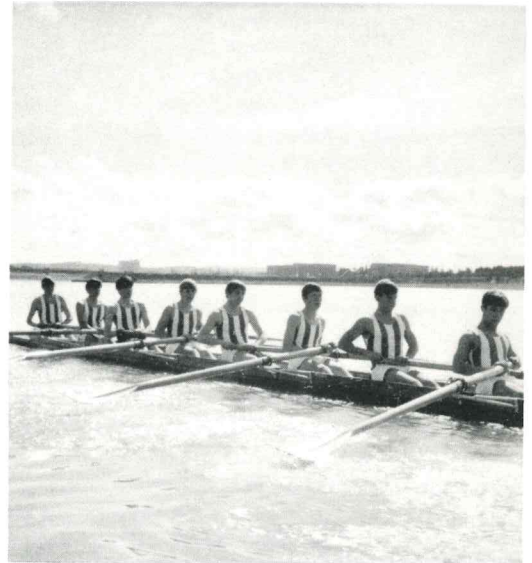

... 15 Firsts at Bathurst but despite a lion-hearted effort (a Dr. Barnard job?) by Jim Latella, Tony Wain, John Roche and Co. the big country boys are too good. Bathurst win 33-5.

... 16 Now it's their turn - we had the edge at cricket but Daramalan win the football. We play from Under 11 to Under 15, A and B. We win only 14 A and 11 A. The 11 B's drew.

... 23 Primary school play Marist Brothers rugby. We win three and draw one.

... 29 It would make a grown man cry. First XV were winning 8.6 against S.P.C. - as the bell rang they scored in the corner - down 9.8.

... 30 Was that someone playing Australian Rules on the oval?

JULY

... 5 Those rowers know how to get things done. Wine and cheese tasting in the basement - a very pleasant way to buy new equipment.

... 7 Truth will have its day...

at least, so some would say -

We have teams in the Australian Rules Carnival - the thirteens reach the final.

... 8 Music lesson ... "but what about the concussion instruments, Miss?" (a footballer for sure).

... 10 Look to the left and look to the right ... Constable Black here to lecture on road safety.

... 13 Grammar have a great day at our expense. Only the 14's and Seconds have any success.

... 14 Well, if we can't win at Union ... The Firsts change to League for a day and win the Under 17 section of the Canberra Knockout Carnival. Peter Clowry's kicking draws special praise.

... 24 Sons of God hear his holy word

Gather round the table of the Lord ...

Alleluia!

Some new hymns at Mass - praising God with the music of '68.

... 31 Feast of Br. Edmund Rice. Tuck Day ... icy winds ... inter-class football. All those toffee apples and sticky hands ... ugh!

AUGUST

... 2 Form Four dance. Freddy enjoyed it immensely.

... 4 The First XV strike gold. The forwards and backs combine splendidly to defeat Daramalan 16-6. Gavin Schmedje and Jim Latella score tries, Paul Cremer kicks two conversions and two penalties.

... 10 South side grand finals. Under 14 draw with Grammar, Under 12 defeat Hawks 3-0. Brendan Mackey scored the winning try. The field was a quagmire so that by the finish all resembled All Blacks.

... 14 Exams are on again. Grade Six Religion question: What was the angel's message to the Apostles at the Ascension? Answer: "Don't just stand there looking, get out and teach the world."

Was Vatican II really necessary? A new slant on the Reformation in an essay by one of the Form Two boys: "... Luther left the Church and started the Lutherans but it was all fixed up at a big banquet called the Diet of Worms".

... 17 At Jerrabomberra the 16 A's fight valiantly but lose the hockey grand-final 2-0 to Old Canberrans.

On the adjacent field Justin Barwick and Brother Gallagher spur the Under 14's on. With the score 1-3 all seems lost, but no - frantic barracking and determined play level the score 3-3. John Mullins plays the game of his life. Extra time cannot separate the teams and the Under 14's become co-premiers. Danny was intoxicated with joy.

Congratulations to Mr Devlin and Under 14's who win the A.C.T. championships defeating Daramalan 11-3. Heroes of the day are David Mayberry and Peter Hayes.

... 18 The twelves are not so fortunate. Daramalan win 9-3.

... 19 Sad faces in Form Three Gold? Why? only three days of school left, then we have to go off on a two week holiday.

... 21 Denis Wilson and Brian Kimball from the 1965 Leaving Class are chosen by the Archbishop to continue their studies for the priesthood in Rome. The school congratulates them and wishes Bon Voyage.

... 22 Holidays again then back for the final term of '68 ... Speech Night ... exams ... EXAMS ...

"Have you finished writing that yet? (that's the editor, Br Gallagher, speaking) Mr Goldsworthy's ready for it."

"What, already? But it's only September. Think of all the ..."

"Enough of that. It has to be ready by Speech Night."

"Well, may I wish them a happy Christmas?"

"Well ..."

Old Boys

---

*Back: Allan Edward, Peter Gallagher, Don Campbell, Brian Gallagher (Secretary), Paul Scholtens.
Front: John Boyle, Ian Cunliffe (Vice-President), Bill Daniels (President), Brian Knox.*

THE OLD BOYS' YEAR commenced with the Annual General Meeting, which was attended by more than seventy old boys. Those elected as office-bearers for 1968 were:

President: Bill Daniels, Vice-President: Ian Cunliffe, Secretary: Brian Gallagher, Treasurer: Peter Gallagher, Publicity Officer: Paul Scholtens, Committee: John Boyle, Don Campbell, Allan Edward, Brian Knox.

We are pleased that the Archbishop has favoured the Association with his patronage, and were happy that he and Brother Darmody were able to address our Reunion Dinner in February. About 130 old boys attended the dinner and it is becoming obvious that this function is becoming the highlight of the Association's activities.

The Association extends to its newest members, those who sat for the first Higher School Certificate, its congratulations on the successes obtained. Sporting achievements by the College during 1968 are also deserving of our congratulations.

The SECOBA counts its victory over the First XI as its greatest achievement during the year. On the strength of our first victory in this match we will put into existence a perpetual trophy to be received by the victors in future years.

I am sure that most members of the Association are sorry that Brother Kirwan has been transferred from St. Edmund's after nine years. We have no doubt that the students at C.B.C. Penrith will distinguish themselves under his Headmastership.

Parents and Friends

1968 HAS BEEN A BUSY and successful year for the Auxiliary and its Executive.

The main purpose of the College Auxiliary - the parents and friends of the school - is to assist the Christian Brothers in the promotion of the all-round education of pupils of the College. Various groups have contributed, as usual, this year - the ladies who staff the Tuck Shop, organize and staff cake stalls and special tuck days, type examination papers each term, and attend to sewing and mending jobs. Working bees were organized by the men for the varnishing of doors and surrounds, desk repairs and replacement of desk tops. Members of the Auxiliary also officiated at athletics held at the school. In all, a good deal of voluntary assistance was rendered to the College by the Auxiliary, and this it was pleased to be able to give. St. Edmund's is a fine school, with a complex of buildings growing rapidly in size, and a very good staff of Brothers and lay teachers.

Several successful functions were held during the year, including the Wine and Cheese evening, organized by the Rowing Committee, the aim of the committee being to purchase a Tub Four. The St. Edmund's Cabaret Ball, though not intended as a profit-making venture, did indeed show a small profit, and provided those who attended with a very pleasant evening. The special Tuck Day, held on the Feast Day of Edmund Ignatius Rice, was again a very successful fund-raiser. The Auxiliary has been able to make a further payment of $200 on the $700 Toshafax Scanner purchased for the College, and to buy for the library a set of the 1968 Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Auxiliary meetings have been well attended again this year, especially on the "Meet the Teacher" night, and again on the evening on which talks were given by Rev. Brothers Darmody and Brookes on the Higher School Certificate and School Certificate respectively. The Executive urges parents and friends to continue their active membership of the Auxiliary, by attending meetings and offering their assistance.

In conclusion, the Auxiliary wishes to extend to Brother Darmody and his staff of Brothers and lay teachers our sincere thanks for all that they do for our sons, both spiritually and scholastically.

FROM THE SPORTSMASTER

SPORT WAS ONCE REGARDED as a form of pleasant diversion, but now it is recognised as an essential part of healthy living. The U.S. President's Council on Physical Fitness declared in 1964: "We can no longer afford to consider anyone fully educated until he knows how - and is thoroughly motivated - to keep himself in the best possible physical condition at all times."

President Johnson had personal experience of the importance of sport in education. His own account runs: "In my first experience as a schoolteacher, serving as principal of a small school at Cotulla, Texas, I learned by first-hand observation a fact now well established by thorough research: that mental fitness begins with physical fitness in our children. Faced in the school room with laggard minds, to which learning came slowly, if at all, I took my first pay-cheque to buy a volleyball and net for the playground use of the pupils I was teaching - or trying to teach. I shall never forget the change that was brought into the classroom from the playground after those sessions of organised physical activity began. From that day forward, teaching had a chance, and the children themselves had a far better chance in life."

Psychiatrists assure us that people need sport to meet deep-seated psychological demands. In the "good old days", aggressiveness could be diverted into pioneering and exploring. Now, we need sport for emotional adjustment. Games, they say, resemble life in capsule form, and the participant quickly learns that his performance depends upon the development of strength, stamina, self-discipline, and a sure and steady judgment.

Most healthy boys just like sport, without theorising on the benefits they should be deriving from the games they play. We have a disappointingly large number of non-participants in every season of the year. There are good reasons for not playing in a few instances, but the majority of those who do not take part are either apathetic or emotionally unhealthy.

Some of the happiest times we teachers have are with teams of boys who may not be very skilful but who want to play together. They extract an immense amount of enjoyment from their games, and probably without fully realising what they are doing, they spread about them a spirit of joy and contentment.

The school should be the natural centre of a schoolboy's activity in sport. It is sometimes disappointing to see boys refusing to join their school companions in playing with a team associated with the school. Apart from some quite extraordinary circumstances, one would expect that any loyal and healthy member of a school would offer his services willingly. Many boys do, but there are too many who seem reluctant to have any connection with their Alma Mater apart from the compulsory legal attendance.

A final word from President Johnson: "Today it is a delusion for any community to regard the playground as a luxury and the classroom as the only essential. Play - planned, supervised and properly equipped - is as essential to the development of the young as study. Fitness of body is indispensable for fitness of mind."

Rowing

THE MOST NOTABLE EVENTS of the year have been the formation of a St. Edmund's College Rowing Committee, heartening success in the Head-of-the-Lake Regatta and a very successful function to raise funds for the Rowing Committee.

ROWING COMMITTEE

Shortly after the regatta this year it was decided to form a St. Edmund's College Rowing Committee which would co-ordinate all rowing activities throughout the school. The success which we had in the Regatta - discussed in the next section - reflected great credit on the two coaches who prepared the boys, Mr Michael Dixon and Mr Theo. Schmedje. However, as this sport is a very big enterprise it was realised that too much work was devolving upon the shoulders of these men. It was therefore decided to form the Committee mentioned. A subsequent meeting at the College appointed Mr Theo. Schmedje as Chairman of the Committee; Mr R.O. Wellsmore, Deputy Chairman; Mr J.L. Eades, Secretary; Mr M.J. Dixon, Chief Coach and the following Committee members: Mr T.J. Briggs, Mr A. Hiscox, Mr J.C. Jones, Lt-Col. D.O. Magee, Mr C. Sciannimanica.

This Committee has met regularly, has done a power of work on the boats, oars and shed generally and finally organised a most successful Wine and Cheese Tasting evening. For this last we are greatly indebted to Mr C. Sciannimanica and Cantarella Bros. (Canberra), distributors of Kaiser Stuhl Wines who graciously supplied the wine and cheese for the occasion. Over four hundred people attended this function which was voted an outstanding financial and social success. Our thanks go also to the members of the Committee for excellent preparation which ensured the success of the evening.

The Eight training on the Lake

PERFORMANCES

Outstanding achievement in racing was the winning of the Second Eights at the Head-of-the-Lake Regatta. Rowing strongly, with the excellent coaching and drive of Mr Michael Dixon behind them, the eight held off a strong challenge from Grammar over the concluding stages to register a brilliant victory in good time. Next year we hope to make it a win in the First Eights. We will need some keen recruits to fill the gaps left by the retiring Sixth Formers, but with the talent we have, supplemented by some of the strong men of next year's Fourth and Fifth Forms we must have a good chance in 1969. In his initial season as a St. Edmund's coach, Chairman Mr Schmedje also had notable success with a win in the Tub Four event with his crew. Congratulations to the coaches and boys of these crews as well as those who performed in other races. These are to be the nucleus of what we hope will be the premier crews on the lake during this coming season.

We offer a special word of thanks to the retiring Sixth Formers who have spent a lot of time and energy in the interests of rowing at the school. Whatever success we have in the future will have been well contributed to by them.

BENEFACTORS

Another person to whom the Rowing Club is indebted is Mr Jim McGrath, who has installed for us a set of hot showers and more recently extended the hot water service to the drill room with a stainless steel sink-cum-cupboard. We express our sincere thanks to Mr McGrath who now has a permanent monument in the Rowing Sheds, which we think is the envy of the eyes of rival clubs.

Another whom we should thank for an excellent job at the boatshed is Mr Frank Watters. He was responsible for the installation of the numerous timber supports which now hold our racing and training fleet.

By the time this goes to press and thanks to a successful Wine and Cheese Tasting evening, we hope to have added to our family of boats.

FIRST FIFTEEN

THE SEASON BEGAN and finished well but in between it was not a satisfying one. The team played well on most occasions and gave entertaining displays; it broke down, however at those crucial times when scoring would normally have been a virtual certainty. This style of play was typical in most of our matches.

Early in the season we visited Bathurst and enjoyed the hospitality of the Fathers and boys of St. Stanislaus College for a week-end. St. Leo's, Waitara, brought four teams to Canberra later in the season.

Captain of the team was Peter Job who performed his task ably and enthusiastically. The best back was adjudged to be Peter Clowry. The forward who impressed most for overall consistent efficiency was vice-captain and lock, John Roche.

FIRST ELEVEN

THIS YEAR'S TEAM, captained by Paul Cremer, had a season of mixed success. Our strength was in the batting, especially in the first five. The best example of this was against St. Patrick's when we scored 2/178 in 55 minutes of play. Paul Cremer (97 n.o.) and Kieran Donaghue (65 n.o.) being the main run getters.

Our bowling, however, was only mediocre and when backed up by inconsistent fielding, the dismissal of the opposing side was usually beyond us.

The keenness and co-operation of the members of the team, made it quite a pleasant season.

Best bat, Paul Cremer. Best bowler, Paul Cremer.

THIS YEAR WE FIELDED six teams in the Saturday morning competition (two more than last year). Five of them reached the semi-finals, two the grand-finals, and one took out the co-premiership.

The 14A's were our champion team. Coached by Justin Barwick they reached a high standard of hockey, seven of them being selected to represent the A.C.T. in the State Championships in Sydney. Our main rivals during the season were Old Canberrans. In all our matches Old Canberrans got away to an early lead and we became accustomed to the fight back. It was the same in the grand-final - down 3-1 at half-time, 3-2 with minutes to go, and 3-3 just on the bell. In the extra time an all-out effort resulted in our being awarded a penalty flick which, unfortunately, we missed. However it was a fitting result that two such fine teams should share the honours.

In the Under 16 grand-final, we went down 2-0 to Old Canberrans in a closely fought contest. The 16 B's lost 3-1 to Barton in the semi-final; the 14 B's, who topped the competition ladder, were defeated by Grammar in the final, 2-1; and the 12 B's lost their final 1-0 to Daramalan.

Our thanks go to Bill Powell and Justin Barwick for their continued help, and our congratulations to Justin particularly for getting his team to the top. Thanks also to Mr J. Gray who coached both Under 12 teams, to Greg McLagan and Richard Mossop who coached the 14 B's, and to Tom Kelly for his work with the 16 B's.

Swimming

R. McInnes sets a new record at Goulburn, 40.5 sec. for the 50 m. Breaststroke

N. Maciejewski at the finish of the 50 m. Freestyle, in which he set a new record of 32.8 sec.

THE STANDARD OF SWIMMING at St. Edmund's has shown a marked improvement since the introduction of swimming as a year-round sport. This is evident, not so much in the competitive field, but in the general improvement shown by the average swimmers who have had instruction in the four strokes and have learned the basics in breathing and style. About 150 boys availed of these lessons each week.

In the A.S.C. Carnival we gained third place, only 27 points behind St. Patrick's. This was an improvement on last year when we gained the same place but were 88 points behind.

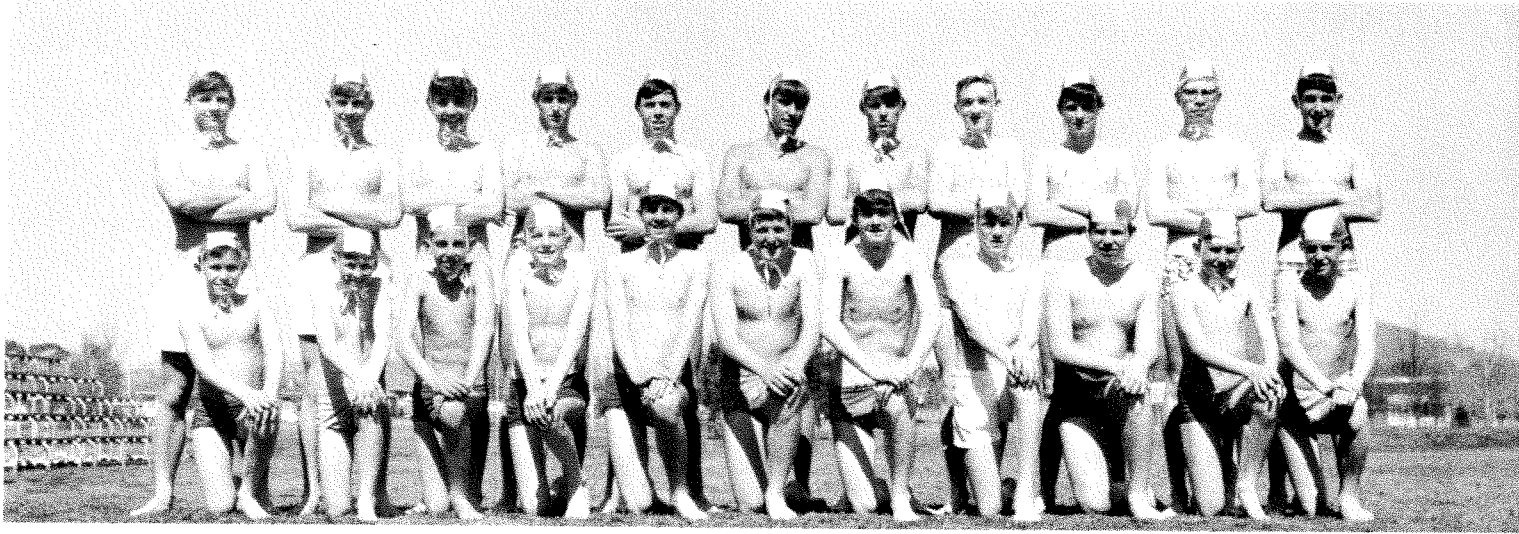

Results: Canberra Grammar 347½ points, St. Patrick's College 272½, St. Edmund's 245, St. Michael's 52.

Invitation Carnival. Canberra Grammar 201, St. Patrick's 177, St. Edmund's 143, Goulburn High 73, Daramalan 58, St. Michael's 32.

Cross Country

*Jog on, jog on the foot-path way;
 Don't bother much about style;
 A willing heart goes all the day;
 But a sour one tires in a mile. (Shakespeare et al.)*

A BLAZING SUN, hard, dry, dusty ground and a long tough course soon separated the men from the boys when we held our Cross-Country House competition at our lake-side circuit in March. As the runners disappeared into the forest section of the course, we observers couldn't help being apprehensive,

"That now they tread the gloomy track Whence no one, so they say, comes back."

It was quite a relief to see a group of figures emerge and totter along the dusty road towards the finishing line. There were some disappointments, but there were also some heartening performances.

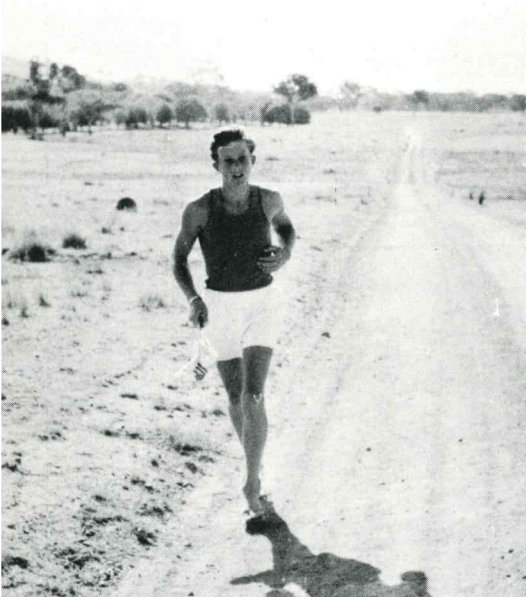

The winners were: Under 10 Paul Ghirardello
 11 David Turner
 12 Anthony Daniels
 13 Peter Cook
 14 Anthony Weiss
 15 John Wojtaszak
 16 Christopher Hawke
 17 James Latella
 Senior John Bromhead

Champion House: Clancy.

The A.S.C. competition this year was held on the Red Hill circuit. This was a tough course also, especially for those who had never run over it before the actual race. Our performance was not as good as it has been in recent years. There were some defections from the ranks, so that we did not have our best team. Some wanted to spend their time sailing or at some other sport that does not demand as much effort as running. This is understandable to some extent, but it is unfortunate that we cannot make a sacrifice of a few hours for the sake of the team. The disappointments were outweighed by the big-hearted performances of the faithful ones. Paul Weiss and his twin Anthony came first and second in the Under 14, and Jim Latella raced away from the rest of the field in the Under 17. There were many others who tried as hard but without such success.

Next year, the A.S.C. competition will be held at Goulburn, and we expect to return to our usual level. We do have plenty of potential. What we need is determination, almost dedication, so that we shall be properly conditioned for what is undoubtedly a very demanding sport. If we are in good condition, we enjoy running: otherwise, it is torture.

*"True ease in running comes from art, not chance,
 As those move easiest who have learned to dance."*

Br. K.M. Kirwan B.A.

Over the nine years 1959-67 Br. K.M. Kirwan became well known to many in Canberra. He came here teaching Grade Five and moved gradually up through the school so that in the last years he was teaching Latin and Histories to the top classes. The high standards which he set and usually attained earned the respect of all, if not always popularity. Thorough teacher, a good football coach (usually the Under 12's), a singing master of note and a good student himself who completed a part time B.A. at the A.N.U. in 1966, Brother deserves the thanks of all who came under his influence at St. Edmund's. All wish him well in his appointment as headmaster of St. Dominic's College, Penrith.
